ESTIMATING THE COST OF TRANSPORTING TROOPS—NOT CANADIAN SUBJECTS.

MONTREAL, Quebec, Oct. 1.—The Star publishes the following special cablegram from London: I understand that the imperial war officers have requested the Canadian Pacific Railway to submit estimates of the cost of transporting troops between the Atlantic and Pacific. It is intended to test the value of the route for this purpose toward the close of the year. If the trial is successful the route will be adopted as a regular imperial channel.

NOT CANADIAN SUBJECTS.

OTTAWA, Ontario, Oct. 1.—The Minister of Marine and Fisheries has received a report relative to the seizure by the Russians of two natives of Cape Breton, named McLean, who were sealing in Russian waters in Behring, Sea. It appears that the vessel of which the McLeans were in charge is registered in the United States and is flying American colors. It seems, therefore, that the matter is one in regard to which the Dominion Government cannot interfere. NOT CANADIAN SUBJECTS.

REVOLT IN ARABIA.

THE UPRISING IN TEMEN THREATENS THE STA-BILITY OF THE OTTOMAN EMPIRE.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—While Russia and the Dreibund are watching each other and throwing out hints of warning the Sultan, whose capital is threatened by Muscovite invasion, has a matter of greater moment on his hands. This is the revolt in Yemen, about which many contradictory reports have been recently published. A letter from a correspondent at Cairo, just published here, gives what is now accepted as the true situation in that province of Turkey. The correspondent says:

tinues but increases and now actually threatens the existence of the Turkish Empire. Or every hand the rebels have been successful.
An army was sent against them under Mustapha Bey in the middle of July. It set out from Sana for Hadje, but on set out from sain for hade, but on the way was met by the rebel forces and put to rout. Two other armies marched against the rebels at the same time, under the command of Hassan Edil Pacha and Ahmed Euschdi Pacha, and they also were defeated. The rebels then captured and de defeated. The rebels then captured and de-stroyed the town of Hadje, and have since occupied Sana. The entire region around Sana and Hodelda, and also Dhuram, Damar and Jerim, are in the possession of the insur-gents. Most of the garrison went over bod-ity, only a few Arabs of the Dihama remain-ing faithful to the Government. Trustworthy dispatches from Yemen are few and infre-quent, but all are to the same effect, namely, that the progress of the rebellion is unhat the progress of the rebellion is unprocessimed a new Caliph and have announced the deposition of Sultan Abdul Hamid as commander of the Faithful.

Commander of the Faithful.

There are also rumors, coming chiefly through French and German mediums, that the rebels are being encouraged and assisted by the English Government. They are armed, it is said, with English rifles and ammunition of the latest pattern, which have been supplied to them from Aden. The extraordinary statement is made seriously that a large body of English cavalry went out from Aden recently toward Hadje, heavily armed with rifles and revolvers and a goodly store of cartridges, and that after a a goodly store of cartridges, and that after a triendly meeting with the rebels it returned without any of these equipments. The whole southwest corner of the Arabian eninsula, which has only been under Turk sh rule for about twenty years, has now en-irely thrown off the authority of the Sultan. How far the disaffection will extend is dim-nult to estimate, but for evident reasons it is cult to estimate, but for evident reasons it is likely to involve the whole of Arabia. For Arabia Felix has never properly been an integral portion of the Ottoman Empire. The vast majority of its people belong to a much stricter Mahometan sect than the Sultan, and look upon him, and in fact all Turks, as little better than infidels. Their only respect for the Sultan arises from the fact that he has been declared Caliph. Formerly the Ca-better than infidels. Their only respect for the Sultan arises from the fact that he has been declared Caliph. Formerly the Caliphate declared Caliph. Formerly the Caliphate belonged to an Arabian dynasty. At that time the Arabs looked upon the Turks with utter contempt. When the Caliphate was transferred to the Turkish dynasty the Arabs refluctantly acquiesced, and thereafter recognized the Sultan as the head of their religion, but still declined to take their politics from Constantinople. To this day, the expression "Belad-el-Trak" or, "The Land of the Turks," serves among the Arabs as an expression of the utmost contempt, being equivalent to "the meanest place on earth." The only bond that unites them to the Ottoman Government is the fact that the Sultan is Caliph. If it be true, therefore, that they have declared him deposed from that office, it is evident that they regard their separation from the Turkish Empire as complete.

Less Buffalo Sone Picker.

ELLENDALE, N. D., Oct. L.—N. L. Sherman, just arrived from the Missouri River country, 100 miles west of here, conditing the reports of the very destructive fire in Emmons County last week and lells of a still greater confagration on the prairies west of the Missouri River. He states that a fire raged there for several days and burned over a region 300 miles long and 20 miles wide, destroying immense quantities of hay belonging to farmers, ranchmen and Indians, also burning and stampeding beyond recovery many valuable herds of horses, tattle and sheep, and probably resulting in the loss of many human lives, though nothing authentic on that score is yet ascertainable. The region that was swept over by the fiames is described as a vast plain of death and desolation, the awfulness of which can in some measure be felt when standing slone in its midst, but which no words can describe. The fire is said to have been started by a buffalo bone picker that he might be the better able to find the object of his search. Realizing the calamity he had been the cause of he is said to have fied. A price has been set upon his head, and if caught he will die at the end of a rope.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 1.—Adolph Bosdorf, one of the most respected citizens of Oak Glenn, was found almost dead in a pool of his own blood yesterday, with his wounded and unconscious wife by his side. Both were the victims of the drunken fury of an ignorant German named William Mantz, who was employed on the dairy farm operated by Mr. and Mrs. Bosdorf, just outside the village limits. The Bosdorfs are reputable people, credited with having a little money laid by. Tuesday night, Mrs. Bosdorf says, Mantz called and demanded 50 as his summer's wages. Bosdorf told him that he had not the money with him. Words followed and Mrs. Bosdorf saw William seize a manure fork and fell his simployer to the ground. Again and signin he struck Mr. Bosdorf, whose wife ran forward to save her husband. Mantz saw her coming, picked up a hugh corn knife and struck her on the head. he promptly launched into a ringing address foreshadowing the policy of the gathering. They were not there, Mr. Ryan said, to uphold any section or faction, but were there, he hoped to say to the Irish people in Ireland, that when they presented a strong and united front, then, not till then, should they receive the moral and material support of the Irish people in America, Only an aggressive movement, independent of both English parties, could command the unstituted aid from America that had been nobly given during the past ten years. The chairman's strong speech was punctuated throughout with enthusiastic cheers.

The police resorted to heroic means last evening to gain access to Eph Eddy's faro rooms at 20s North Eighth street. After the last raid some time ago Eddy concluded to reopen his place but before he did so he put in an iron door which he thought could not be forced open by Maj. The detectives were working the machine and Eddy on the inside heard the voices. As the story goes he laughed and shouted in derision to the officers on the outside to come in and make themselves at home. The officers worked caraestly and soon had the door twisted all out of shape, and a few minutes later they were on the inside and had Eddy and the players in custody.

The gambiers complain that the Fire Department loaned the door-opening apparatus to the police, but this was denied to-day by the department officials. Each truck company carries a door opener, and the rule is that it shall not be loaned to anybody. The Police Department, it appears, purchased one of these powerful affairs from the company which controls the patent.

But in spite of these facts it seems to be certain that Mme. de Bonnemain had received supposedly trustworthy information that the life of Gen. Boulanger was in actual danger when she persuaded him to fly from France.

It is also admitted that, though placed in an awkward and difficult position, Aime. De Bonnemain was both liked and respected by most all her intimate friends. Her devotion to the cause of Gen. Boulanger was absolute and unremitting, and he seems to have fully recognized this, for when following her coffin to the grave Boulanger repeated somberly to three friends who accompanied: "She was all I had left, and now she is also taken from me."

Henri Rochefort will attend the funeral of Gen. Boulanger, which will be purely a civil ceremony. their willing tools. Political pulls would, of course, be expected to secure promotions and appointments of principals and teachers rather than merit and discipline would receive a crushing blow. These are a few of the evils that would result from the election of a partisan School Board and it remains to be seen if the people who take an interest in educational affairs will submit to the dictation of ward bosses and the demoralization of the public school system of the city. A SON'S ASSAULT. Mrs. Anna Stell's $1,000 Damage Suit Against Frank J. Stell. Anna Stell filed suit in the Circui Court to-day against Frank J. Stell, her son asking for $1,000 damages for an alleged as sault. The petition states that in January, the dictation of ward bosses and the demoralization of the public school system of the city.

A LAME EXCUSE.

The Silk Stocking Republican Committee insists that its main object in deciaring for a straight ticket is to settle the Central Committee fight and get a decision as to which faction is the regular representative of local Republicanism. Chairman Bain and his followers insist that they are the chosen representatives of the Republican party in this city, and to test their claim they propose to nominate a Republican School Board ticket from skin to bone. This ticket they propose to file as the regular Republican outfit, and then make a fight to have it accepted as such by the School Board officials, who have charge of the election affairs. This is the platform of the Silks and it is an admission on their part that they would sacrifice the interests of the schools to settle the question as to which faction of bosses should engineer the Republican party of this city. No other conclusion can be drawn from their action, despite their declaration that ordinarily they are averse to partisan interference in school elections.

The Democratic City Central Committee, composed mainly of Noonan henchmen, also want to get control of the School Board and the fat contracts it has to give. The bosses not content with running things to suit themselves at the City Hall are casting eager eyes in the direction of Seventh and Chestnut streets, to get a share of the large sums expended annually for the support and advancement of the public school system.

A few weeks ago Chairman Estes of this committee declared that he was approached to 1091, Mrs. Stell, while in the store, 816
Franklin ayenue, was assaulted and beaten by defendant with his fists. She alleges that she was greatly injured, and that the defendant trouble arose over a horse and buggy in the mother as her property. Old Mrs. Stell, it was stated, was in the habit of visiting the store and calling her son such pet names as thief, liar, robber, swindler, etc., when he refused to give up the horse and buggy.

Upon the date when the assauft is alleged to

A few weeks ago Chairman Estes of this committee declared that he was opposed to the nomination of a straight ticket, but a majority of that committee do not, and say they will not agree with him. A number of the committeemen have written and spoken to him on the subject and most of these expressions, it appears, favor the idea of a partisan ticket. One of these expressions came from Henry L. Edmunds, the Committeeman of the Twentieth Ward, who is not identified with "de push." Mr. Edmunds takes the position that there ought to be a straight ticket nominated for several reasons. One of these is that it would give a splendid opportunity to try the new primary election hw-passed at the last session of the Legislature through the efforts of Representative Ryan. Others give different reasons for making the School Board election a political contest. to state that the proposed military turnout in honor of the Veiled Prophet on his arrival in the city Monday afternoon will have to be abandoned. It was intended to have a nagnificent turnout of the militia to escort the Prophet from to the Exposition afternoon. In deference to his wishes there will be no demonstration over his arrival. He will enter the city quietly and mysteriously after dark Monday and appear before his faithful subjects on the stage of the Music Hall, where the keys of the city will be presented to him by the Mayor. He will then leave quietly to return again the following evening in all the splendor and magnificence of a regal entry.

making the School Soard election a political contest.

CHAIRMAN ESTES' POSITION.

When Mr. Estes was seen this morning he said: "Some time ago I expressed my personal opinion on this subject. I said then that I was opposed to the idea of nominating a party ticket. Since then many leading Democrats have spoken to me both for and against the nomination of a partisan ticket. Last evening the committee met and discussed the subject and later on it will reach a definite conclusion. If a majority of the members vote to call a convention I will have to be guided accordingly. If such action is taken, I am satisfied that a strong ticket for Directors at large will be chosen and that every one of them will be worth the support of the people who wish to see the interests of our schools advanced."

HOT AT HARRISON.

THE DEPUTY BUILDING COMMISSIONER'S LOBBYING CAUSES A BIG ROW.

n Exciting Meeting Between the Two Officials in the Council Chamber This Morning-President Burnet Wants the Lindell Hill Cut Away-Supt. Mur-

Deputy Building Commissioner James Har-tion walked into the Council chamber this norning with wrath in his eye. He had just heard that Secretary W. H. Little had accused him of passing claim bills and bonds through the Council for a consideration, and the secretary had mentioned especially the bond of John Murphy, the new Park Superintendent, which had just been approved.

"Are you responsible for those statements?" Deputy Harrison asked.

"To some extent I am," replied the Secretary.

"Are you responsible for those statements" Doputy Harrison asked.

"To some extent I am," replied the Secretary.

"Well, they are all a pack of blanked lies, and you know it."

"You can't use that sort of language in this office," said the Secretary, "and if you have no business here you must leave."

"I only wish you were a little bigger," said the deputy,

"Don't let that deter you," said the Secretary. "Just go ahead, if you want any satisfaction. Or you may sue or ask the Council to investigate my allegations."

Deputy Harrison went out without more words. The quarrel was caused by his frequent appearance in the Council Chamber as agent for his friends who had legislation there. Secretary Little and Assistant Secretary Douglass Crothers say that he gets money for this. Murphy's bond was prepared by Harrison and approved by the Council. When it got to the Register's office, it was discovered to be incorrect. It was made out for $2,000, when it should have been for $2,000. The bond was sent back to the Council, and then Secretary Little became very angry with Harrison, who had led the members into the mistake. The bond had to be again made out and approved, and Harrison came around to the Council again to see that it got through in time for Supt. Murphy to draw his salary.

"I don't intend," said Secretary Little, "to allow this fellow to go around town and represent to people that he is working this office. Of course he does not take the interest he does in legislation for nothing, and he shall not create the impression, as his behavior will, that he is dividing what he gets with us."

Assistant Secretary Crothers has informed Harrison that he can get no further information about anything in that office, and the deputy is very indignant. "I had two of my friends," said he, "who ask me to help them in such matters as bonds in the Council, and I try to do it at I am in the City Hall. I never get a cent from any of them. That is a lie. Murphy is a friend of mine, that's all."

Supt. Murphy said: "I never get a

The people who ride or drive out to Forest Park have been wondering ever since the Lindell boulevard was opened why that big hill was left at the entrance of the avenue. It pitches up sharply from Grand avenue about a hundred yards and then descends steeply to Cabanne. After that there is a gentle down grade to Vandeventer, then a gradual ascent to the restaurant, and it is nearly level from there to the Biair Monument. The big hill interrupts the view out the boulevard to the park, which would otherwise be a very fine one.

Since the Board of Public Improvements turned its attention to boulevards, this hill has figured in all their calculations that concerned the Forest Park drainage. An effort is now to be made to convince those who own the property near by that the removal of the hill would be a good thing and to secure their co-operation. The hand some places on both sides of the boulevard along the hill are owned by Gov. E. O. Stanard, Moses Rumsey and C. D. McClure, the mining millionaires; Peter L. Foy, Moses Fraley James M. Carpenter, Jacob Mayer, M. B. Joyce, F. R. Rice and Mary E. Teasdale. They would have to pay nothing for leveling the avenue, but the removal of the hill would leave their houses perched up in their yards above the new road, and they would have to lower the buildings to the street, or make terraces down to the sidewalks. Of course, this would be costly, but the Board of Public Improvements thinks the property holders are rich and public-spirited enough to sympathize with the intention of the improvement and encourage it. President hill was left at the entrance of the avenue. It

"I know no other street improvement, said Commissioner Murphy, which would accomplish so much with so little work. The hill mars the boulevard, and prevents it from making the pleasant impression on strangers it would convey. We can't cut down the hill if the property owners object, but the change would increase the value of their places, and I think they could see that."

REAL ESTATE INTERESTS.

Day's Sales-Denverside. Although the weather is very much agains the market the long list of to-day's transfers indicate that the fall business is starting out very well. Fifty-one transfers were filed for record, more by considerable than for any one day since July. Recent auction sales have something to do with the increased have something to do with the increased sales, but for that matter private sales, too, are becoming more numerous.

Charles H. Gleason & Co. report the sale of H. E. Robinson's property, an 96x124-foot lot, at the southeast corner of haple and Belt avenues in Chamberlain Park at $40 a foot to Norman Brown, who is going to improve that attractive residence locality with a fine dwelling, which he will make his home.

Desecured.

The man who ended his life so miserably Cemetery may have deserved reprobation and contempt, but he is entitled to some achievement. He proved himself a brave and espable soldier. He opened the way to the hearts of his countrymen by honest methods and creditable success. He possessed the qualities which gain the love ability to win popularity and the opportunity to rise to a great figure in the world he could not use and master them. How far circumstances, the accidents of fortune and the jealousies of others influenced his fate cannot be fully known until history has sifted the facts of his career with unprejudiced eye. That he failed is the great fact that the world knows and the follies and weaksesses which contributed to that failure and which would have been overlooked had he succeeded are magnified. He doubtless deserved failure and justly

In an interview with a press representa-tive to-day a chief of a tureau in the War office expressed very clearly the views of the official military class on the subjects of Gen. Boulanger's suicide, and the proposi-tion of the Patriotic League to accord the dead General a public funeral in the streets does not honor the memory of Boulanger for his military services to France, and for the wounds which he received in her de-Frenchmen to fight bravely, and on very general principles for the country, or to receive with more or less composure and philosophy, grievous bodly hurts in the same cause. There, however, with wellwishers of the country, admiration for the personality of the man must stop. I am instinct, training and service, oldier; but I have never failed to deplore the wretched role enacted by Boulanger from the moment, he while heat of the office, attempted to corrupt the constitue

He field from France be fore that trial began, and the man who yes terday met the downfallof his personal am bition and the loss of his mistress and friends ith suicide, was then not brave enough to confront a court of France with a defense his honor, either as a man or a patriot. I have not one word to say about the dead General's private life. That is a matter not germain to the questions jou ask me."
In regard to a possible attempt by the Patriotic League to have a public funeral in Paris, the official said: "There will be no great demonstrative funeral pageant for Gen. Boulanger either here or elsewhere in France. Of that you may be certain. Nor lo I believe the league, or its monarchical and imperialist allies—if the latter longer exist—will attempt anything of the kind. The time for that sort of thing has passed.

The republic will deal with the matter sensibly, patiently and firmly. It will seek to avoid offending the susceptibilities of Frenchmen, however misguided they may be; but it will no more submit to insults from the left of the common that the left of the common that it is not to the common that is a sound at the common the late followers of the dead adventurer than it would receive an affront from the most potent of living monarchs."

The main-in fact, practically the onlynews feature of the newspapers of this city to-day is the suicide of Gen. Boulanger. One of the prominent features of the Boulanger story printed in Paris this morning is a series of interviews with leading Boulangists, a fact which goes to show that American journalistic methods are obtaining a firm foothold in Europe inspite of the sneers formerly heaped upon them.

M. Laguerse, the Boulangist Deputy, during one of these interviews said: "For a year or so Gen. Boulanger and I have been so it is all the more extraordinary that it should have escaped the vigilance of his valet, relatives and friends. The dead man had the weapon tightly grasped in his right hand and it was sort that the built had en-

Continuing he remarked: "The General's death will ing he remarked: "The General's death will have little influence upon the internal politics of France, or upon Boulangism itself, which was already crumbling to pieces."

All the Paris newspapers agree in expressing the opinion that the death of Boulanger will not affect the political situation.

Mme, Boulanger, the wife of Gen. Boulanger, who is living in Versailles, was overcome with grief when informed of her husband's treate death in the Company of the content of band's tragic death in the Cemetery of Ixelles, neer Brussels. LONDON, Get. 1.—The Paris correspondent of the Times says: "Boulanger's only excuse is that being at once common place and sincere he served without suspicion as an instrument of others. The irretrievable depth of his fall shows that France, henceforward mistress of her destinies, is no longer to take upon herself a master. With his corpse will be buried the latest personification of that execusive race known as the tion of that execrable race known as th saviors of Society."

Another correspondent says: "The fact that the suicide of Gen. Boulanger made no inpression upon the European bourses inticates the low ebb of the General's induence."

The Times in commenting on the suicide of Boulanger says; "Gen, Boulanger cleared the air of French politics. If the Republic is again menaced the danger will come from more upgight and manly aspirants for power than Orleanist or Bonapartist intriguers who figure in the 'Coulisses du Boulangiste.'

The Standard's Paris correspondent says of Boulanger's death: "All sides exclaim that it was the best he could do; that he was a man all the same," etc. etc.

The Vienna correspondent of the Standard says: "Boulanger's suicide is the subject of conversation everywhere. His fate is compared with that of Balmaceda, which probably suggested it. Characteristic stories are in circulation about his devices to hide his impecuniesity, Many knowins his circumstances anticipated the desperate act."

The Soleid says: "It was a strange destiny, after living like Vitelius, to die like Werthera. Yet what a splendid career Boulanger might have had as a simple soldier."

According to the Gaulois, "Boulanger's death was his last blunder."

La Liberte says: "The life of a man who could upset the Republic had he chosen to agitate France, to an enormous degree, has ended like that of a hero of a novel. He died alone, and far away from home."

La Patric says: "The deed was like that of a hero of a novel, and not like that of a hero is soldier."

THE ACT PREMEDITATED.

PRECAUTIONS OF BOULANGER'S FRIENDS TO PREVENT HIS SUICIDE.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 1.—There are, as usual in such cases, many contradictory stories circulating in regard to Gen. Boulanger's behavior previous to his suicide. For instance, it was said shortly after his death became known that the General had not in any way allowed his friends to form any idea as to his intentions. Those who formed his entourage admit that the direct contrary was the fact. They say that recently he has frequently openly avowed a desire for death, and it is even added that the General has several times of late made attempts to take his own life. The consequence has been that he has been watched as closely as possible by the friends who still remained true to him at the low-water of his fortunes. Even the latter, however, appear to have finally grown tired of their task and to have determined to resign their positions as guard-ians of the fallen leader's life. With this object in mind his friends in this city recently warned the General's niece and the latter's husband, the ex-Minis-niece and the latter's husband, the ex-Minister of War, who at one time was looked upon as the man to lead "La Revanche" enthusiasts, that Boulanger was so despondent as to be apparently determined to commit suicide. This niece and her husband arrived some days ago at the General's hotel, in the Rue Monterey, and so impressed were they with his demeanor that one of the first things that they did was to cause all the weapons found in his apartments to be taken away and hid-len where he could not get at them. Boulanger made no secret of his weariness Boulanger made no secret of his weariness of life since the collapse of his party, and particularly so since the death of Mme. de Bonnemain. His friends now recall the fact that when the coffin lid was finally closed over the remains of his mistress, he kept repeating aloud in heart-broken tones, "Au revoir et a bientot." Every day, about 4 in the afternoon, it has now become known, Gen. Boulanger, since Mme. de Bonnemain's death, has gone to the cemetery at Ixelles and has deposited some handsome floral emblem, generally a crown, upon her grave. blem, generally a crown, upon her grave. He would stay by the grave of his beloved for some moments, sometimes for an hour, either engaged in prayer or in deep thought. Over the grave itself the General has caused a pretty white tombstone to be erected, and at its head stood a broken column inscribed "Marguerite, 1855-1891." A few days ago the unfortunate General deposited on Mme. de Bonnemain's grave a handsome crown of dowers, bearing on it the words: "A bientot,

Marguerite.''
Contrary to the first reports received of the affair, the General must have walked about the cemetery for nearly an hour and a half before he returned to Mme. Bonnemain's that so soon as the General reached the tomb the second time he immediately placed the pistol to his head and shot himself. The repistol to his head and shot himself. The re-port of the revolver was heard by the coach-man who was driving the General's landau and the valet who had accompanied the sui-cide to the cemetery. Then both rushed to Mme. Bonnemain's tomb and there they found the General quite dead, lying across the grave. Death must have been instanta-neous.

year or so Gen. Boulanger and I have been separated in regard to our ideas as to what should be the policy of the Patriotic League. But I wish to keep a bright recollection of the valiant soldier who served his country so brilliantly."

M. Lauer, Paulin and Mury, in reply to questions in regard to the death of their former leader say that their grief was so great that they could not say anything upon the subject at present. M. Coussot and Deputy Gabriel declared that the General's death would not modify their political attitude. They would still remain in opposition to the system of affairs they complained of. had this weapon tightly grasped in his right hand, and it was seen that the bullet had enthem there is not a trace, except the dimiy seen white ribbon, which covers the wound in the temple. In spite of repeated inquiries made by press representatives upon the subject, the relatives of Gen. Boulanger persistently decline to furnish the public with any definite information as to the written declarations which he has left behind him. Yet it is known that the dead man prepared several documents for publication, in view of his sudden death, and that he had written and placed on his desk a number of telegrams and sudden death, and that he had written and placed on his desk a number of telegrams announcing his suicide, which he intended should be sent to the persons to whom they were addressed so soon as the deed had been committed. All the property and documents of Gen. Boulanger have been placed in sealed receptacles by the magistrates.

Boulanger left a will and political testament in his desk. It is stated that the latter declares unshaken confidence in his party, enjoins his friends to prosecute the great

SHADOW OF NAPOLEON. BOULANGER'S IMPRESSIONS DURING A VISIT TO

PARIS, Oct. I.—An intimate friend of the dead Roulanger furnished Parisian newspapers to day with Boulanser's account, according to the writer, of his visit to Prince Jerome Bonaparte and the Count of Paris. The late General is quoted as saying: "It is curious, but I was most impressed with "Plon Plon" (Jerome Bonaparte). We were in the hotel parior. The Duchess remained with us, She had risen to leave, but the Count begged her to stay. It was like a scene in a play. Neither wishes to speak and nothing happened. But Jerome looks like Benaparte. I felt the shadow of the great Napoleon hovering above us. The apartment was full of relics. To me it was a sanctuary; yet what traditions lie perdue in the heir to the hat traditions ile perdue in the heir to the ings of France. I felt vexed with mysel tterwards, but the Count gave me the increasion of a cautious merchant seekin axiously for a good market for his warss.

Pottsville, Beading, Allentown and Lewistown have to-day the provid distinction of having been the most alert to the dangers menacing the national capital in 1881. From these places went forth the First Defenders, more than 500 strong, who passed unopposed through Baltimore the day before the Sixth Massachusetts were set upon in that firey city. The fact that these Pennsylvanians were the first volunteers to reach Washing. city. The fact that these Pennayivanians were the first volunteers to reach Washington was long since admitted by the Congress of the United States, and the Legislature of Pennsylvania recently ordered a medal to be struck off for each man of this pioneer band. And among the ceremonies to-day not the least noteworthy was the presentation of these medals to the survivors of that band and to the heirs of those who have gone before. Gov. Pattison presented the medals in the name of the Commonwealth and the famous War Governor, Andrew G. Curtin, received them for the First Defenders. eceived them for the First Defenders.

FIRST AT THE CAPITAL.

Within one week after President Lincoln's first call for volunteers no fewer than twenty-three full companies had left this county. In the field the boys from Schuylkill uniformly gave good accounts of themselves. Witness the conduct of the Ninety-sixth Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers, at Bloody Angle during that titantic struggle of the Wilderness. Or call in evidence the patience and ness. Or call in evidence the patience and skill of the Forty-eighth, when under Gen. Pleasants they laboriously undermined sons of schuyikill left behind them a good name. After the war had ended and the time was come to dedicate the Gettysburg Monument Gen. Grant wisely decided that no Pennsylvania regiment that had fought on that field should serve as hat had fought on that held should serve he he President's body guard. He wanted no lealousies among the heroes of that stubborn pattle. And yet he held it right that some Pennsylvania regiment noted for its good. Pennsylvania regiment noted for its good record should hold the post of honor. With this idea he selected the Fiftieth Schuylkill oys again. Several of the towns in this county years go erected monuments, each in honor of sown Union dead. And years ago talk of such a local monument was begun in Potts-ville. More than one movement was begun, only to collapse at last. In the light of to-day it is seen that these failures were for the best. The county seat will now be adorned with a beautiful monument of a design absolutely original, and of artistic merits worthy of its mission.

THE MONUMENT AS IT STANDS.

The monument is a Corinthian column of Barre (Vt.) granite. An irregular octagon, is feet in diameter, it recedes from the base until at the height of about 9 feet it becomes reduced to a square. At the four corners of this square stand four bronze figures, life-size, representing the four branches of the service—infantry, cavairy, artillery and bluejacket. The square is surmounted by a Corinthian shaft, upon the cap of which stands in bronze a heroic figure of Liberty, with one foot firmly set upon broken shackles. In her right hand she holds a wreath, as if to crown her defenders below, while her left hand rests upon a sheathed sword. The entire monument is 42 feet high. sword. The entire n

William Foster, who was formerly the manager of the Boston ideals Opera Co. and also of Agnes Huntington, had a row in the Imperial Hotel last night with J. M. Hill, Manager of the Union Square and Standard Theaters. Foster had a grudge against Hill over some matters and when he passed the matters and when he passed the Imperial last night and saw Mr. Hill talking to Dr. Townsend he made some uncomplimentary remarks to Manager Hill. Hill replied and Foster attempted to strike him. Dr. Townsend interfered and Private Detective Mc. Mullen of the hotel ordered Foster out. He refused to go and struck McMullen. The detective knocked the Colonel down and gave him a pair of black eyes. Foster was then arrested and taken to the Thirtieth Street Station house, charged with assault and disorderly conduct. Proprietor Brealin of the Glisey House balled him out later in the night.

gerous; although if continued it induces dyspepsia and obstinate constipation. But the fact that many cases of poisoning have occurred from the use of alum, puts the question in a more serious aspect, and prudent people will exercise caution in the selection of baking powders."

1 "Under what conditions, then, does this substance—formerly used only for mechanical or medicinal purposes—become poisonous? They are certainly obscure, and at present we can only surmise what they may be. We suspect that the cause exists in the individual poisoned; some peculiarity of the constitution producing a morbid change in the secretions of the stomach, with which the alum combines and forms an active poison; or the secretions may be healthy but in unusual proportions, and that these less or greater proportions in combination with alum constitute a poison."

"For example, two parts of mercury and two parts of chlorine, and we get corrosive sublimate, which is a dead!y poison."

"Then again we know nothing of the condeadly poison.

"Then again we know nothing of the constitutional peculiarities. Why is it that one person can eat all kinds of green fruits and vegetables with impunity, while the same course might cost another individual his life? One person can handle poison by and sumac without being in the least affected; another is poisoned if he approaches to within ten feet of them. Out of a family residing in a malarial district, some of the members will unfer half the year with fever and ague, while the oth-ers will enjoy excellent health during the entire year. Foods that are wholesome to entire year. Foods that are wholesome to some persons are actually poisonous to others. This is especially true of some kinds of fish. There is no safety in taking alum into the stomach, as it is shown to be always injurious and ofter dangerous." *

The Investigations of the United States Commissioners in Bussia.

BERLIN, Oct. 1 .- Col. John S. Weber and Dr. Walter Kempster, the United States Commissioners who are inquiring into the emi gration question in Europe, have left here for Bremen in order to take part in the con-ference of steamship company representa-tives which is to take place there to-day. In ference of steamship company representatives which is to take place there to-day. In an interview with Col. Weber and Dr. Kempster, these two gent lemen said that for the past month or so they had been staying in Russia and that they found that the conditions affecting emigration there were of such a grave and peculiar character that they did not feel warranted in speaking upon them except in the form of an official report, which would be accompanied by corroborative evidence, without which the statements which they had to make might be regarded as incredible. The commissioners have been personally hearing the views of people competent to express an opinion upon the subject and also examining certain districts in regard to crop prospects. They saw sufficient to prove to them that the cold weather and rain had seriously injured all the crops, and that a period of great distress was certain. In this respect they said the newspaper reports on the circumstances did not appear to be overdrawn.

In other parts of Europe the commissioners found that emigration had only assumed normal proportions. The principal causes for desiring to emigrate are, beside the desire to better their condition, the chief burdens complained of in many parts of Europe, namely, compulsory military service, excessive taxation, low wages and information as to the superior condition of the United States, derived almost entirely from relatives and friends who bave already emigrated.

WHIPPED BY WHITE CAPS Mme. F. Jacouemin

He Calls on Marshal Buchanan for As-sistance—The Marshal's Trip to Dex ter—Suit Over a Real Estate Transac-

NEARLY TO DEATH.

United States Marshal Buchanan has just returned from Dexter, Mo., where he has been investigating a Ku-Klux whipping affair. J. H. Pratt, a prominent citizen of Bernie, nine miles from Dexter, which is in Stoddard County, on the Cotton Belt road where it is crossed by the Cairo branch of the Iron Mountain, was taken from his house about three days ago and badly whipped by white caps.

A telegram was received by Marshal Buchanan the night before last from Bernie and signed J. W. Piatt, asking the Marshal to come immediately, but giving no further information. Marshal Buchanan took the 9:30 train on the Iron Buchanan took the 9:30 train on the Iron Mountain that night and reached Dexter at 8 o'clock yesterday morning. Bernie has no railroad connection, and the Marshal hired a rig. As the driver was hitching up the buggy, he remarked: "I know what you are going to Bernie for. It is to look up that whipping." This was the first intimation the Marshal had of the nature of the case, and he questioned the driver.

The affair seemed to be quite well known, Capt. Buchanan said, in Dexter, though the people did not want to talk about it. The driver referred the Marshal to a lawyer, who, he said, could tell him all about the case. According to the statement of the attorney and others with whom the Marshal spoke on the subject, it seems Platt and his wife did not get along well and agreed to separate. A controversy arose between them about the division of their property, the nature of which Mr. Buchanan did not learn, and the result was that one night about three days ago a party of man came to Platt's residence and taking him out whipped him nearly to death.

On learning these facts Marshal Buchanan returned home, as the case is not one for the Government to handle, but is a State offense. Last night, after his return, the following telegram was received by Marshal Buchanan; Dextras, Mos., Sept. 30, 1891.

To this the Marshal replied by letter in-forming Mr. Platt that the Government only afforded protection in cases where citizens were deprived of their right to vote or pre-emption rights.

Judge Thayer, of the United States Circuit is engaged to-day hearing the suit of Robert F. Burt against Thomas H. Warren, Charles Scudder, administrator of Robert Gardner, deceased, V. B. Slade, L. E. Holden and Charles W. Rolf e Frank G. Flanagan, Benjamin F. Hammett, Charles Hewitt and Benjamin F. Webster. The suit is in consequence of a real estate deal in which plaintiff traded a farm in Illinois valued at $18,000, for St. Louis property, lie alleges bad faith and that he got the worst of the trade, and prays for relief. Mills & Flitcraft and W. B. Thompson represent the plaintiff, and Christian & Wind and Hiram J. Grover the defendants.

In the case of the Williamson Corset & Brace Co. against the Western Corset Co, and others, an alleged patent infringement, which was tried in the United States Court yesterday. Judge Thayer dismissed the plaintiff bill en the ground that it failed to show infringement by the defendant.

is not a charity, but a self-supporting institu-tion which gives promise of wide and powerful influence. Though the first was opened but a few months ago there are already four, with prospect of many to follow. I gained my first knowledge of them from the eager iny first knowledge of them from the eager in-rest shown by Toynbee Hall gentlemen, hen an English friend who was with me appened to say that he was familiar with eir inner history. Their reputation was ready widely spread in the Whitechapel gion, and the gentlemen working there ere eager to understand all about their lethods. We therefore hunted up the near-and chairs, and beyond a doorway a larger room furnished as a restaurant. A staircase gave ready access to a series of rooms above. From these came the murmur of many volces. The whole affair is a large self-supporting workingmen's club with an attachment of restaurant, where tea, coffee, cocoa, soups, meats, puddings, etc., are sold, and a depot for the sale of tea and sugar in packages. The latter constitutes the novelty and supplies the profit. The name is only a catchword and means nothing, but it has caught the public, is attracting wide attention and is probably destined to play a very important part in both the social and the temperance movements of the near future.

A RIVAL OF THE SALOONS.

The story of its origin is interesting and engestive: A London gentleman who had been very successful in organizing what is now a famous workingman's club which has over two thousand members and is a hive of varied activity, was casting about for methods of starting others. The of varied activity, was casting about for methods of starting others. The great difficulty is the money for the initial outlay. Current expenses the members can manage, but house room is beyond their reach. He was led to inquire how the salcons or public houses, as they are called here, manage it. The inquiry gave him the solution of his difficulty. He found that in the majority of cases, as I suppose is also true with us at home, the great brewers or wholesale liquor dealers furnish the money for the retail shops under the condition that they sell only their products. In England such present the said, "Why not apply the idea of "tied houses" to the tea trade?" Happening to be connected with the tea trade himself he had no great difficulty in getting his scheme tried. He organized a workingmen's club with bright attractive rooms and a clean, well-conducted restaurant, the latter to be open to the public and both to be selfa clean, well-conducted restaurant, the latter to be open to the public and both to be self-supporting. To these is joined a tea counter for the supply of the same tea, a better qual-ity than is ordinarily to be bought by work-ing people, and at a low price. This furnishes the profit from which the rent is paid. The thing took, and the growth of the club has been raid. The been rapid. The one in shoreditch which was opened in December last has eight or hine hundred members. The Ratcliff Tee-to-tum reaches the very poorest people, and shows how easily they can be drawn from the salcons when something better is offered them. It is in an obscure, ill-lighted back street, in the midst of men and women most of whom are only casual workers—that is, work only at odd jobs—yet these people pay the necessary subscription, and the club has 800 members. ork of the Tee-to-tum is the inne ife of the club it houses. Of course the back-one of this is some man like Mr. Buchanan, he originator, who gives time and trength to it for the love of the people he influences. But the club manages its own affairs. It feels the self-respect that comes from its financial independence. It has no ultimate aim be-yond that of furnishing a place of pleasant reunion for the members, for whom it pro-vides reading, smoking and billiard rooms, a hall for concerts, debates, private theatricals and the like, and all at the small cost of and the like, and all at the small cost of

Furthermore, as the club grows classes are organized for all such matters as the members desire. The example of the Polytechnia organized for all such matters as the members desire. The example of the Polytechnic and the People's Palace have made classes very popular among the working people in London. Science and art classes, magic lanters lectures, choral societies, athletic class, skittle alleys and tennis courts all come easily and in natural development.

The new magazine, Help, started in the interest of social service, thinks that the Tee-toum is destined to be the deadly rival of the laloon. If it should prove so, it will bring to be support of the temperature. saloon. If it should prove so, it will bring to the support of the temperance cause two very powerful social forces, on the one annd the independent action of the workingmen securing for themselves by organisation some of the purest and best pleasures of life, and on the other, the self-interest of capital, advancing the money

The movement attracts attention rather from the eddity of the name than from the absolute novelty of the thing. Coffee palaces have long proved profitable financial entures in all the large English towns, and nestablishment called the Aerated Bread in a comparison of the compliance of the comparison roundings in various parts of London, is now paying 80 per cent dividends. The combination of business with philanthropy or with religion does not work. It is impossible to keep the motives clear. But there seems to be no great difficulty in organising men and women for the supply of the natural human wants and beneating them both in the gratification of the want and in the process by which it is done, that these workingmen's clubs and comperative societies of various kinds among the lower classes of London are doing an immense service and contributing largely to the solution of many of the grave questions that on all sides, are so full of helpful and benefi-

A HOSPITAL FOR DYING GIRLS.

Nothing impresses me more, however, than the manifestly large number of such earnest and self-sacrificing people as are found in England and the endless variety of their undertakings. In looking over the file of "help," it is interesting to notice how promptly an appeal for the establishing of some new form of benevolence or philanthrophy is responded to. Almost immediately you find it under way. Among the newest that came under my notice are a small hospital for dying girls and a series of dinner-hour concerts given freely by well-known musicians. The former require no other qualification for admission than that the patient be near to death. There is no payment, and in case of death funeral expenses are provided for the friendless. The other scheme seeks to break the monotony of life for tired work people by giving them at noon once a week the pleasure they are too weary to seek of an evening. It was tried the past winter in the City Temple and met with great success.

I have been about East London considerably and I am impressed with the erroneous ideas which I had, in common, I believe, with others, in regard to the character of its population. It has long been the custom for travelers visiting London to secure the guidance of a policeman and to visit the lowest sections of the East end by night, and to tell of the horrible wretchedness and vice they have seen. These stories, together with the newspaper accounts of "Whitechapel murders," give the wretchedness and vice they have seen. These stories, together with the newspaper accounts of "Whitechapel murders," give the impression that here is a great festering mass of hopeless degradation and helpless poverty. On the contrary one finds there to day, whatever was there in the past, a vast network of clean, well paved streets, lined for the most part with comfortable tidy two-story brick houses; the whole region pierced with broad thoroughfares, solidly and sufficiently well built up, the avenues of a large and well ordered traffic. Of course there are foul alleys and some dirty markets where narrow streets are choked with there are foul alleys and some dirty markets where narrow streets are choked with costermonger's carts, and where especially of a Saturday night, life is not pretty. But the East Londoner is to-day no such man as he is depicted. On the sontrary he is a hardheaded, if somewhat slow-witted, self-respecting, thoroughly independent and virile specimen of humanity, who shows by the way he is taking hold of the opportunities within his reach that he is not only capable of living as a man among men, but possibly of contributing no small quota to the sum of wisdom and experience which is necessary for the final solution of the great social and industrial questions. Certain it is that no great strike of late years has been so well managed or has Hansacked the graves of warriors old.

Their falchions wrenched from corpses' hold.

The vessel itself, which is of oak, clinkerbuilt and seventy-five feet long, is preserved in the Archæological Museum at Christiania.

Life in the North, however fundamentally homely, was attended in those days by accessories of considerable splendor. Gastronomic refinements were indeed unknown. Boiled veal counted as the 'best of dain ties;'' roast pork, with wheaten bread, might also be provided for favored guests, in default of which delicacies curds and buttermilk were welcome, and the bill of fare during the royal visit comprised, on alternate days, fish and milk, meat and ale. Yet the tables spread with such simple repasts were often gay with embroidered cloths and radiant with gilded vessels, dainty glass beakers and repousse silver and bronze drinking horns. They were surrounded, too, by gorgeously clad revelers. Scarlet cloaks, lined with fur and secured with magnificent fibulæ of bronze, iniaid with silver, or of silver gilt diversified with filigree work, garnets or walrus ivory, were flung over silken tunics or kirtles made of a kind of velvet called 'pell.'

These were belted in with girdles finely wrought of precious metals: sold rings an. ate years has been so well managed or has had such wide influence as that of the East London dock laborers. Out of East London came, if not the originators, at least the first recruits and the great successes of the salvation Army and in East London are to be found to-day the most thorough-going, the most suggestive and the most successful while the properties that were to perfound most suggestive and the most successful philanthropic enterprises that are to be found anywhere. I think we can match any alley in London with as evil a one in St. Louis, though we may rejoice that we have very few of them; and from what is doing in London with the lower than the state of the control of t on we may well thank God that our home is in St. Louis where the burdens are compara-tively light and the difficulties in any man's way to comfort are comparatively few, and then take courage to try to remove such diffi-culties as now exist. Henry A. Stimson.

PRECAUTIONS AGAINST SUNSTROKE. Circular Issued by a State Board of Health Telling What to Do.

From the Philadelphia Times.
The State Board of Health has issued the following circular concerning the precautions to be taken against sunstroke and the treatment of any one afflicted with the illness:
Sunstroke is caused by excessive heat of the blood (from 100 deg. to 110 deg. Fahr.), which produces great depression of the nervous system. It occurs during the hot season of the year and usually to those exposed to the hot sun, but it sometimes occurs at night and also to those exposed to great heat in glassworks, laundries, furnaces, bakeries, iron foundries and the engine rooms of steamships. It is largely confined to the hot, close streets and passages of the city, but is not unknown to the country. Those habitated to the use of alcohol and the debilitated are especially predisposed to attacks. ment of any one afflicted with the illness: bilitated are especially predisposed to attacks.

Dark, close-fitting clothing and such as compresses the chest and neck should be avoided during the heated term. For those obliged to labor in the sun light clothing and a straw or light felt hat, permitting free circulation of air, are preferable.

On very hot days one should drink frequently, but in small quantities. A large amount of ice water, cold beer, soda water, mineral water or other iced drink entering the stomach at one time is injurious.

Cool water, into which out meal has been tirred, is a safe and refreships.

Engiand on account and, Pa., where he died in 1804. His son afterwards sold his library, a farmer getting it for a mere song. At a subsequent sale the books passed into the hands of Rev. E. B. Olmstead, who did not know their value until he found Priestley's name in the Bible.

This book is printed in Latin and bears the date 1822. It is well worn, showing that it was not used for ornament alone. As an appendix it contains the book of Psalms set Cool water, into which oat meal has been stirred, is a safe and refreshing drink. Water should not be drunk in considerable quantities at a lower temperature than spring water, namely, 56 deg. Fahrenheit. Immediate death is often caused by 'lee cold' drinks. The immederate use of alcoholic beverages is also dangerous.

The sleeping room should be freely ventilated and cool. Constipation of the bowels should be avoided. When overheated, work slowly, frequently cooling the head, chest and back with cold water. Keep a wet cloth or some green leaves in the hat on the head, frequently wetting them with cold water. When, on a very hot day, the skin becomes dry and uncomfortably hot, a burning sensation is felt in the head and the face is flushed and the eyes bloodshot, with frequent tendency to urinate, the person should immediately quit work, retire to a cool place and rest in quietness; and if not speedily relieved from sensation of heat, take a cold bath.

The attack may be very sudden and take the form of delirium in which the patient rushes wildly about and may attack those around him, or he may become weak and sink to the ground as if in a fainting spell or stupor. Loss of consciousness and mental disturbance may be only partial. Nausea or sickness at the stomach often precedes the onset. Convulsions may occur.

Sunstroke must be carefully distinguished from heat exhaustion, in which the general symptoms are similar to those of sunstroke, but the bodily temperature is below the normal. The difference can be at once recognized by feeling the skin underneath the clothing; in sunstroke the skin feels burning hot; in heat exhaustion it is cold.

2. Strip his clothing to the waist and place him in a recumbent position.

3. Pour cold water—lee water is best—upon his head and chest until consciousness returns. The points at which the blood may be most effectually cooled are the wrists, the temples and the ears, because at those points it approaches the surface more nearly in considerable quantities. Ice may be applied to the head and chest and rubbed over the

LONDON POLICE STATISTICS.

Keeping the Peace in the World's Great est City.

London Correspondence of the New York Tribune.

An impressive view of the magnitude of the British metropolis is presented in the annual report of the Commissioner of Police, which has just been published, covering the operations of that department for the year 1890. The authorized strength of the force was as follows: 81 superintendents, 888 inspectors, 1,524 sergeants and 12,241 constables, total, 15,264; being an increase of 1 superintendent, 11 inspectors, 82 sergeants and 445 constables since 1889. Of these 4 superintendent, 54 inspectors, 197 sergeants and 1,423 constables were employed on special duties for various Government departments, including special protection posts at public offices and buildings, dock yards and military stations, and by public companies and private individuals. The number of police available for service in the metropolis, exclusive of these specially employed and whose services were pild for, was 27 superintendents, 894 inspettors, 1,337 sergeants and 11,432 constables; total, 13,600. An average of one-fourteenth of the force, except special duties, sick, etc (682), is daily on leave in accordance with the regulation granting one day's leave of absence to each man every fortnight. Casualites ty men sick and on detached sick leave avelaged 49 daily. The Metropolitan Police District extends over a radius of fifteen miles from Charing Cross, exclusive of the city of London, and emberopolitan Police District extends over a radius of fifteen miles from Charing Cross, exclusive of the city of London, and emberopolitan Police District extends over a radius of fifteen miles from Charing from Coincy Heath, Hertfordshire, on the north, to Mogadore. Todworth Heath, in the south, and from Lark Hall, Essex, in the east, to Staines Moor, Middlesex, in the west. The total amount of police rate levied on the parishes for the year ended March 31, 1891, produced $3,833,018, and the local taxation account contributed $2,933,408 to the police fund during the year.

These were belted in with girdles finely wrought of precious metals; gold rings encircling legs, arms and fingers; silk caps, adorned with lace, covered the head; shoes were of leather covered with beaten gold and stitched with silk; a gold band like a diadem confined tawny and profuse locks flowing down to the shoulders. We hear, beside, of gloves made soft with down, of suits of "many-colored English cloth," rain-and-dust cloaks and of fur-lined mantles with golden neck straps. Siguard the Jari figures in St. Olat's Sara as clad in "a blue kirtle and blue hose, high shoes laced around his legs, a gray cloak and a gray broad-brimmed hat The Book Which Afforded Consolation to Apropos of the old Bible in the possession of G. Delton, Esq., of Belmont, O., described in the Pittsburg Dispatch recently, a correspondent writes to say that Mr. W. W. Olmstead of Monterey street. Allegheny, owns another remarkable volume. It is the Bible which afforded consolation to the great chemist, Joseph Priestly, best known as the discoverer of oxygen. Priestley was driven from England on account of his opinions, and came to Northumberland, Pa., where he died in 1804. His son afterwards sold his li-fewer than 1839, inough the ingures for loss were a marked improvement on those of the preceding year. There were fewer offenses of this kind committed in the metropolis during 1890 than in any year since 1875. But in 1875 the felonies of this class were, relatively to the population, in the ratio of 4.182 per 1,000 whereas last year the proportion per 1,000 was only 3.002 or less than half the number considered. But in 1875 the felonies of this class were, relatively to the population, in the ratio of 1.183 per 1,000 whereas last year the proportion per 1,000 was only 3.002 or less than half the number considered normal twenty years ago. It thus appears that there was greater security for persons and property in the metropolis during 1890 than in any previous year included in the statistical returns. It should be remembered that in relation to police work the difficulties of dealing with crime as each decade adds a million to the population of the metropolis are augmented in a ratio far greater than that of the arithmetical increase. The facilities for the commission of crime, and the chances of immunity relied on by professional criminals, are very much greater in a population bordering on 6,000,000 than they were in 1875, when the population of London was only about 4,000,000. In ten of the sixteen murder cases recorded in which apprehensions were effected by the M etropolitan Police, convictions were obtained against the perpetrators of the crimes. In seven of these the prisoners were sentenced to death, and in the other three the accused were found to be insane, and were ordered to be confined during fier Majesty's pleasure. Six murder cases remain to be accounted for. In one of these the author of the crime was removed to a lunatic asylum without being brought to trial. In another the murderer committed suicide. In a third the accused was acquitted of the capital charge on the medical evidence adduced as to the cause of death. In the Chiswick case of Jan. I was ultimately established that the death was wholly unconnected with homicidal violence, And in the case of the Italian, Pompeo, who was murdered by another Italian on Feb. 18, the accused escaped to staly and the evidence of his guilt was remitted to the Italian Government in the usual way. The only capital crime unaccounted for, therefore, is that of the girl Amelia Jeffs, who was murdered at West Ham on Jan. 31, and there the evidence against the author of

From the Pall Mail Budget.

A Demerara correspondent describes a desperate fight between a man and a Jaguar, which recently took place on the Demerara River. The hero of the combat, a black named I ally Davidson, a farmer, was out with his dog, which roused a Jaguar from its lair. The ferocious animal made tracks for the thick scrub, followed by Davidson and his dog. Being closed pressed the Jaguar climbed a tree, where Davidson shot it, wounding it in the head. This made the animal despend, and again he dived into the bush, pursued by Davidson. The beast concaled himself in some brambles, and as Davidson was again trying to take aim the Jaguar leaped upon him, knocking him bodily into a drain full of water. Davidson now engaged in a desperate struggle with the fierce brute, and seizing the Jaguar, now somewhat exhausted from loss of blood, he exerted all his strength and managed to hold his head under water until he was slowly suffocated. But before this the isayur had sentended.

nent in the Connecticut Marke Over the Increased Prices.

GFIELD, Mass., Oct. 1.-The excite the Connecticut tobacco market ing in intensity. During the past increasing in intensity. During the past ten days the range of prices paid has advanced from $ to $ cents per pound over the prices current two weeks ago. The crop has cured in perfect shape, and sales are being made mostly at from 18 to 30 cents per pound for the entire crop, to be delivered in the bundle. The New England Homestead is conducting an inquiry into the actual quantity of old domestic, Sumatra and Havana leaf now in the hands of dealers, packers and manufacturers throughout the United States, 1ts preliminary estimate indicates that the 1890 domestic crop contains 25,000 less cases of wrappers than cigar manufacturers absolutely require during the current fiscal year, even admitting that the supply of Sumatra leaf in the country is almost double what it is placed at by the trade. The shortage in wrappers of the present year's crop is twice as large on a most conservative estimate. The Homestead shows that the cigar product for the year ending June 30, 1833, must be nearly five billion cigars, exclusive of those wrapped with Havana leaf. This product will require 50,000,000 pounds of wrappers, whereas the 1891 crop, with which they must be covered, cannot possibly turn out over 20,000,000 pounds of wrappers. Hence, the 1891 crop is fifty to seventy thousand cases of wrappers less than will be absolutely required.

The Homestead intimates that if the final results of its investigation should more than bear out these preliminary indications it will add another $600,000 to the profits of Connecticut and Housatonic Valley growers, giving them fully $2,000,000 more of this year's crop than they have received for the last few years. The booming in prices has not yet struck the tobacco-growing sections of Central New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Wisconsin, but buyers are quietly getting options on crops in those sections at low prices.

The price of the new crop of bops has been forced down to 12½ cents per pound, but the Homestead gives reasons for believing that this is an artificial depression and that g

DISFIGURED FOR LIFE. Two Babies Attacked by Rats and Hor-

Workester, Mass., Oct. 1.—It has just become publicly known that the twin bables of Mrs. Joseph Lane of Exchange street were attacked by rats early on Sunday morning and the left cheek of one of them was nearly chewed off. The twins were born about five weeks ago and both are fat, chubby and healthy girls. On Saturday night they were carefully tucked away in their cradle near the mother's bed. At about 4 o'clock Sunday morning Mrs. Lane was awakened by the come publicly known that the twin babies of attacked by rats early on Sunday morning and the left cheek of one of them was nearly chewed off. The twins were born about five the mother's bed. At about 4 o'clock Sunday morning Mrs. Lane was awakened by the stifled cries of one of them. The crying continued and finally the mother took the babe in her arms, pressing its little cheek against her own. It was warm and wet. The child continued to moan and the mother lighted a lamp and was horrified to find blood running down its cheek. The face was mangled and torn in a frightful manner. Pieces of cheek were found on the pillow in the cradle and blood stains were in the crib. On the little one's cheek and neck were the bloody mutilations where the rats had gnawed the fiesh, tearing it from the cheek and leaving large imprints of teeth in the fiesh. The baby will live but the teeth marks are sufficiently deep to disfigure the face for life.

EX-TREASURER WOODRUFF. Report of the State Board Appointed for

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 1.—The State Board, which has been for five months making a settlement with ex-Treasurer W. E. port shows a shortage of $138,000, but says port shows a shortage of $188,000, but says there are $101,000 of assets in which the ex-Treasurer may have equities. The definite shortage, which must without doubt be paid by the bondsmen, is $37,000, but a court may decide that nearly the entire amount of $188,000 must be paid; this, too, in addition to the $68,000 paid by the bondsmen in February last. The shortages disclosed by this report cover the satire period of Woodruff's term of office—ten years. The Governor will instruct the Attorney-General to enter suit at once against the sureties for the deficit.

Saw Francisco, Cal., Oct. 1.—Capt. Plummer of the steamer Al Ki writes from Ounalasks that all the American men-of-war were for a time out of coal, and the British ships did all the patroling in the Behring Sea. News was received to-day from the schooner John McCullough that she met the Arctic whaling fleet at Point Beicher, and when she parted company with them the ice was too heavy to permit their going to Point Barrow. Nothing had been added to the catch since the fleet was last heard from. If the ice has not opened the season will be a poor one.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 .- The dispatches sent ou rom the City of Mexico giving graphic acounts of the revolt in Guatemala and the evements of large bodies of troops from the capital of the province of Quezaltenage toward the capital city of the Republic, ar not credited by people here whose business i is to keep thoroughly posted in the affairs of Suatemala. When seen to-day, Consul-Ger eral Bais of that country in this city, laughed at the story of a revolution. It is inconceivable, he says, that with tele graphic communication with neighboring have been heard in this city, even if direct communication with Guatemala has been cut off. The daily newspapers have come reg ance, and business communications have passed between here and Guatemala both by mail and wire. Sept. 15 was the national there had been a drunken fight or two in the streets that night. Such might have been the basis for the report.

The Central & South America Co. say that they have had no report of trouble in Guatemala, and New York merchants with business houses there scout the idea of the formation of a society in this city for the purpose of bringing about a revolution in Central America. As to the designs of President Barrillas to declare himself Dictator, they have no information, but are not inclined to believe that he will pursue such suicidal course, in the light of recent events

A New York paper to-day received a specia cablegram from its correspondent at La Libertad, Salvador, in which he says that the commandant of that port denies the truth of the reported revolt in Guatemala and the movement of troops in Salvador toward the Antonio Barrios, a relative of the most famous President of Guatemala, Jose Rufino Barrios, who was killed in the attempt to place himself at the head of the United Republics of Central America four years ago, is in this city. In an interview last evening he said he placed little reliance in the reports of a revolution from Guatemala. "If there has been an outbreak in Guatemala, as the dispatches say, we would have known it here within a year few days. My country has been opened to mod and telephones as well.

"I must say that I do not believe anything that is contained in the dispatches, and would not even if the date did not make it ridiculous. I know my countrymen and it is not like them to lose their heads and revolt in this way."

"Is it not true that revolutions have com-ors, and I am informed that the talk agains the President is altogether the result of writings printed in their papers."

"Is it not true that Barillas desires to be made Dictator?"

"He has spoken of this. If he should try to create a dictatorship there would then be reason for a revolt,'

The steamer City of Sydney has arrived here The steamer City of Sydney has arrived here from Panama, via Guatemala. She left Gua-temala Sept. 16, and at that time no revolu-tion was imminent. R. Souza, a merchant of Gustemala, who has just come from there, says there was no revolution there and no probability of being one until after the election. Another passenger said that a rumor of a revolution probably grew out of a drunken fight which occurred about Sept. 15. He thought it might have occurred from the calebration of independence Day but did not celebration of Independence Day, but did not

IMPRISONED AMERICANS. THE MEN ARRESTED BY CHILIAN OFFICIALS AT

THE MEN ARRESTED BY CHILIAN OFFICIALS AT SANTIAGO.

New York, Oct. 1.—Cablegrams received here from Valparaiso give the names of the three Americans who were imprisoned at Santiago. They are Hillman, Madden and Rayprast. They had visited Mr. Egan at the legation and were on their way back when taken into custody. Messrs. Hillman and Madden made a business call. Mr. Rayprast had gone to the legation to obtain letters, All three were locked up. Mr. Rayprast was kept in prison for some ho urs. Messrs. Hillkept in prison for some hours. Messrs. Hill-man and Madden were taken to the inten-dencia and detained for a short time, when man and Madden were taken to the intendencia and detained for a short time, when they were released.

In addition to this two of Minister Egan's servants were thrown into prison and kept there for two days, being released on Saturday. The vigorous protest of the American Minister caused the Junta to withdraw its police cordon from about the legation house. Commodore Schley of the Baltimore, which still lies in the harbor of Valparaiso, is now at Santiago, in conference with Minister Egan. Now that the trouble between the Junta and the United States Minister has quieted down and a chance is afforded of reviewing the events of the past few days, it is evident that the actions of which Minister Egan has had reason to complain were taken by irresponsible officials. There does not appear to have been any sanction by the Junta's cabinet of the police espionage and arrests. In fact it is stated in Santiago that a majority of the cabinet discountenanced the proceedings and are desirious that peace shall prevail throughout the country so as to regain all of Chili's former prestige. For this reason they are avoiding, so far as in their power, all troubles with outside nations.

Another cablegram says that during the presentation of an opera at Valparaiso a few nights since, in which the United States flag figured, the audience made such violent esmonstrations that the stars and stripes had to be removed from the stage.

Carelessness. James Gangel, aged 45, was killed about 6 o'clock last night at Campbell's Grove, Clif-ton Heights, by being struck by the Kansas the world produces, all bearing our name City day express. Gangel had just stepped and warranted. off the Kirkwood accommodation, which stops at the point, and had started to cross the track when the express came along. Th accident was due to an utter disregard of the ordinance requiring trains to not run at greater epeed than six miles an hour within the city limits. The express last night was going at not less than twenty to thirty miles an hour.

going at not less than twenty to thirty miles an hour.

At the time of the evening when the accident occurred there is much rivairy between trains as to which will have the right of way. The 'Frisco road comes in over the Missouri Pacific track from Cabanne avenue and the Iron Mountain connects at Tower Grove. Trains for the city are liable to be blocked if they are not on or ahead of time by trains belonging to either the Frisco or Iron Mountain roads reaching the junction first.

The speed at which the Kansas City express which caused the accident last night was going, may be judged by the fact that it could not be stopped until thad almost reached Howard's Station, a mile distant. Gangel's body was fractured, and collar-bone and both legs broken. The number of the engine of the Kansas City express is 279, in charge of John Boyd, engineer, and W. D. Moore, conductor.

Boyd, engineer, and W. D. Moore, conductor.

Another case of carelessness on some one's part came nearly resulting in a serious accident at 9 o'clock last night in the same part of the city. It was at the point where the Chouteau avenue cars cross the 'Frisco Road. There are draw gates on the street to prevent vehicles from attempting to cross the track in front of trains. In addition to this, the conductors of street cars are required to stop their cars and go ahead and be sure that all is right before allowing the car to make the crossing. In the case last night the conductor failed to see a freight which was approaching. The train also escaped the gateman's eye. The street car had not entirely cleared the railway tracks when the freight was upon it striking the rear of the car. No damage was done, however, beyond shaking up the passengers of the car and badly frightening them.

This afternoon's programme was decidedly classical. The admirers of Beethoven turned out in force to enjoy the rich treat the great leader had in store for them. The celebrated "Sonata Pathetique" and the Fifth symphony were given entire. The symphony requires over half an hour in execution. The audience sat spell-bound during the rendition and at the close of the inspiring finale broke into tumnituous applause. It was a rare treat for the musicians present. Mendelssohn's familiar "Wedding March" was given for the first time this season and Goldbeck's "Mexican Dance No. 1" scored an instantaneous success. The second dance will be given to night. To turn from the classical, the St. John's Jubilee Singers, who have been delighting audiences in the cotton display in the Dasement, were brought up stairs before the second concert last evening and delighted the audience in Music Hall with their plantation melodies. "Mamma's Black Baby." "The Laughing Song." and "De Niggar Hop" brought down the house.

To-morrow will be Royal Arcanum Day, Gilmore has prepared a special programme for both afternoon and evening. Mr. E. Stamm will sing Rossini's "Cujus Animam," Mrs. Thomas Morse is down for a solo, and the Olympia Quartette of Valley Council, assisted by Miss Adeleide Kalkman and Mrs. Louise Auberten Corley, will give several selections.

efeated New York twice yesterday, the Ch veland ran away from Chicago, and uence the bean eaters now have a over the "windy city" representa ser'es with Boston is certainly enough cause for the Chicago authorities, if they are really in earnest after the championship, in demand an investigation. But it seems in demand an investigation. But it seems has plicable to the knowing ones how it is that the New York Club, which is the property of A. G. Spalding, the Chicago magnate, would lay down for the benefit of Boston. Some go so far as to state that the recent meeting of the National League an agreement was made between Spalding & Co. agreement was inade or the object of which was to control the affairs of the National League. Spalding has the assistance of the Boston big three, who control a good block of stock in the Cincinnati team, can dictate the Cincinnati Club's vote, and as it was seret that the Chicago magnate condictate the Cincinnati Club's vote, and as it is no secret that the Chicago magnate controls the Pittsburg and New York aggregations, it can be seen that he and the Boston people direct the votes of Boston, Chicago, New York, Pittsburg and Cincinnati, or a clear majority. Soden's price for entering this combine is said to be the pennant for 1891, so that his team will be able to compete with the Association Club at the Hub for public patronage. Now, the next question is: Whare does spaulding come in after making this sacrifice. The explanation of this given is that the above combine will prevent any compromise withcombine will prevent any comprodise with-out his consent. It will prevent any further negotiations on the part of the peace faction in the League and the Association, as the lat-ter body will, of course, not confer with any committee that has no authority. The Chizar was afraid of the Byrne-Robinson Brush faction and was willing to sacrifice even the pennant for 1891 to prevent them from gaining control of the National League. In the Association circuit a stand-off occurred at Philadelphia, where Boston defeated the Athletics in the first game and the Quakers came out on top in the second. Milwaukee ran away from Louisville.

The talk the Chicago people have been making gives the whole League race a suspicious aspect. If New York is throwing games to Boston against Chicago, it must be at Spalding's own request anyone would naturally suppose as he owns the controlling interest in both the New York and Chicago Clubs. The New season Chicago and Boston could play a score of games with great a score of games with great profit to each. It is rather hard to credit such things even against League magnates with all their inclination to scheme, but the charges come from the magnates themselves, camers says this is his last season on the cliamond.

A prominent League manager approached pan Brouthers on the last Western trip Boston made with a proposition to join the League next season, but Dan said that when he got ready to sign the Boston Reds would have the relusal of his services. The feeling among the Reds is that Dan will sign with his present nine for 1892. There is little doubt but that Buffinton and Haddock will do the same, so that the Reds will be substantially the same in 1897 that they are this year.

Cleveland is after Weich. Van Heitren and McMahon of Baltimore, Brooklyn wants haliman of the Athletics and Brouthers of Boston. Chicago desires Duffy and Farrell of the same team. Pittsburg will attempt to induce Killen, Davis and Grim of Milwaukee to Jump their contracts. Boston has already

A SENSATIONAL PERFORMANCE. A SENSATIONAL PERFORMANCE.

At Richmond., Ind., yesterday Nancy Hanks, Budd Doble's sensational mare, went against the world's mile trotting record held by Maud S. The first quarter registered :33%, the second, 1:04; third, 1:36%, and the mile in 2:08, knocking a quarter off her own record, and within a quarter of the world's record, 2:08%. The performance was simply inexplicable when the circumstances under which it was done are taken into consideration. The mare has been at work all summer trotting in matches for purses, and in exhibition contests. This, with the traveling the above necessitated, was enough to break down an iron horse. Yesterday's result stamps Nancy Hanks as the most wonderful trotting horse of the are Jockey Narvice, the Mexican boy who first came East a little over a year ago, has improved greatly during the present season. His riding has pleased Foxhall Keene so well that he has engaged him to ride next year.

John A. Morris bid more than $20,000 on the St. Simon-Pialsanteric coit at the recent Doncaster sales, but failed to secure the youngster, who went to Blundell Maple for $20,000, which creates a new record for the price of a yearling in England, La Fleche, who fetched 5,500 guinaas, having been the highest-priced one up to that time.

Notwithstanding Hamilton's miserable jocksyship of late he stands at the head of the list of jockeys winning mounts for the season. Early in the spring the Hoboken Stable bought the two-year-olds Laughing Water and Oppressor (renamed Bismarck), paying a fancy figure for them. They sold on Saturday for $2,600 and $1,100 respectively, less than half of the price paid. Both of these two-year-olds were considered close to the stake class in the early part of the season. Now they cannot win in company with selling-platers.

THE ANNUAL GAMES OF THE A. A. U. DRAWING THE RECORD-BREAKERS.

Arrival of the Manhattan Team, the New York Athletic Club Team and Other "Crack" Contestants—Sketches and Records of the Visitors—Gathering of the Clans.

World's champions in the athletic field are thick in St. Louis to-day, and local athletes and lovers of athletics are in a whirl of excitement over the presence of the "big guns." The annual championship games of the A. A. U., taking place in this city on Saturday next, are what is drawing the "champs," and with the near approach of those important events, public interest is rapidly deepening, and for the time being "muscle," "speed" and "endurance" are the absorbing topies of conversation, comparison and learned discussion. The Pastime Athletic Club of St. Louis, as the local representatives of the A. A. U. in the present meeting are the hosts of the occasion, and sentatives of the A. A. U. in the present meeting are the hosts of the occasion, and the members of that flourishing and ener-getic organization are hard at work doing everything possible both for the comfort of all details for the championship games.

The Southern Hotel is the headquarters a

The Southern Hotel is the headquarters at which the arriving contestants in Saturday's games are stopping, and the hotel rotunda is filled to-day with brawny and fleet-footed young champions, ruddy of cheek, elastic of step and chock full of vitality and vigor. They are men who have met one another in athletic war on many a field, coming just now indeed, most of them fresh from the games of the Detroit Athletic club, which took place day before yesterday, and they "fraternize" in the hotel with that peculiar quickness and geniality which seems to be one of the leading results of the contest for honors in the athletic world. While there may be bitter rivalry between respective clubs, the rivalry is only that of struggling for honors to be placed to the club's credit, and the "stars" personally are on the friendliest of footings with their competitors. Their arrival at the Southern last night and this morning is properly the beginning of the great annual event of the A. A. U., and will culminate in the championship games on Saturday.

others of the Manhattan team at the Southern.

Luther Carey, the celebrated sprinter of the Manhattan Athletic Club, is a Princeton College student. He has been sprinting for quite a number of years. In 1888-61-88 Carey is credited by local time-keepers at his home in Oberlin, O., with 10s. in 100-yard races in which he competed. In 1889, at Detroit, he beat Owen in 10s. He has ran in a vast number of races since that date, and always in remarkably fast time. At Washington, Oct. 11, 1890, at the annual championships, he ran second to Owen in 94-5s. It is claimed that at Princeton, on Oct. 18, 1890, Carey ran 100 yards in 94-5s. This record has not been allowed by the A. A. U. Board. In his recent trips abroad with the Manhattan Athletic Club team he easily defeated all the English cracks; in fact, made quite a show of them. In a trial heat recently in the idmanhattan Athletic Club team he has not of the N. Y. A. C., th 10s.

W. C. Downs is a member of the New York Athletic Club, and with that team is now registered at the Southern. He holds the world's record for the qurter-mile run, 473-5s, which and, N. Y. A. C., entered for the broad jump-ing events. and P. Van Derberg, Gus Sund-strom, G. Tilford, E. E. Barnes, G. Liggett, L. J. Connell and E. Roscorer, of the N. Y. A. C. taam.

The Troy Athletic Club of Troy, N. Y., has five representatives at the Southern as follows: J. W. Bigelow, Treasurer; M. C. Murphy, trainer; Heary M. Jewett, entered against Luther Carey, by whom he was beaten at Toronto by six inches; J. T. McGee, entered for the mile walk, and Theodore Luce, entered for the pole-vaulting event.

Malcolm W. Ford, one of the bright particular "stars" of the Manhattan Athletic Club, will not be in St. Louls for the A. A. U. championship games Saturday, being quite sick in New York at the present time. He champion shot-putter of the world. He is a Scotch Canadian 25 years old, and his first great victory was at the games of the Toronto Club in 1885, when he won under a heavy handicap. In 1887 he entered for the N. Y. A. C. games and won, although not in condition. A few days later he broke the record and has held it since. He joined the N. Y. A. O. in 1889, and has won many a championship point for that club. His best record with the shot is 44 feet 5 inches.

championship point for that club. His best record with the shot is 44 feet 5 inches.

C. E. Reber of the Pastime Athletic Club of St. Louis has no superior at broad jumping, and is now claiming the interested attention of the athletic world. He won the running broad jump at the championship games of the Central Association held in Detroit, creating the world's record by clearing 23 feet 63 inches. He is expected to break that record by jumping 24 feet at the games next saturday. Reber will have to meet the leading Eastern cracks in St. Louis at that time, and his performances are awaited with the greatest interest. Not only is he a first-class jumper, but also a splendid all-around athlete. He has run 100 yards in 101.5s., 220 yards in 23 seconds, a quartermile close on 60s., has chased the hurdles at both distances in fast time; can do feet 8 inches in the running high jump; has put the 16-pound shot 37 feet and the 56-pound weight 19 feet, and thrown the 16-pound hammer over 87 feet. Reber is probably the strongest contestant for the all-round athletic championship.

"LAND BILL ALLEN."

The Workingmen's Friend to End His Days in a Poor-House. COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 1.-A man 86 years of age was sent to the County Infirmary yesterday who spent the best part of his life to aid the working men and women of the country. His name is William Allen, better known by the name of "Land Bill Allen." Over forty rears ago Mr. Allen commenced the work of years ago Mr. Allen commenced the work of his life for his fellow men. At that time he resided in Perry County and was the owner of a valuable farm and was surrounded by a happy family. He then commenced the agitation of the homestead law and traveled the country over at his own expense delivering speeches and lectures in furtherance of his work. He also addressed Legislatures, until at last Congress passed the National homestead law, giving every actual settler 160 acres of land. For this work he was lauded but received no payment. He spent his fortune in the cause, his fa mily died off and now he is in the poor-house. Besides this, his work in Ohio led to the adoption by the State of the exemption law, by which the poor man has a certain amount of property set aside as exempt from debts. When sent to the infirmary yesterday he presented a most miserable appearance, his clothing being in tatters and rags.
